CVPOA election is quiet; Hudson condemnation loud

With no fanfare, no opposition and no need for a secret ballot, the slate of officers for the CVPOA was unanimously moved into office at last week's general membership meeting.

Although there had been anticipation of some kind of fireworks in the form of nominations from the floor, only 57 persons were present to hear the presentation of the nominating committee's slate.

Rex Pryer, Monterey attorney who lives in Robles del Rio became the new president. Pryer is also president of the Tularcitos Parents Club.

Dr. Ben M. Dahle becomes the new vice president and Jim Miller assumes the job of secretary-treasurer.

The nine board of directors for the coming year are Frank Bresk, Mrs. Lester Borchers, Norman Chasoff, Doyt Early, Roy Kaminske, Clayton Neill Jr., John Otter, Mrs. Lois Robinson, and Mrs. John Woolfenden.

Before the voting, president St. E. P. Tyner summed up accomplishments, aims, and future trouble spots for the CVPOA. He stressed the need to achieve approval of the slope density plan and incentive zoning, reiterated the stand for the area master plan and against the MCCCCP, and reported the drive which doubled the CVPOA membership. He clarified the position of sheriff's service to the Valley and stated that by closure of the Monterey substation on weekend nights more men were released for patrol duty.

After taking office Pryer commented on the fact that "our Valley" is one of the last of the lovely ones to be developed because it has been fairly isolated. He said "the new officers and board picked up the Valley in good shape and hoped to deliver it next year in equally good shape."

He brought up four points in his plans as president of the CVPOA. 1. We must see that specific zoning must be resisted...there must not be any spot zoning without strong study and consideration.

2. There is a need for changes in road requirements. He would urge less urban roads in our country area. Not to reduce the quality of the roads but sacrifice width and eliminate cuts to preserve the land.

3. He favors the slope density plan and will work for its adoption as rapidly as possible.

4. He favors retention of the existing planlines to the Farm Center until it is proved that there is no need for a four lane road.

Many Outlook readers correctly identify sign

It seems that many many Valleyites and a few Carmelites have taken Highway 101 south to San Diego. That is where the other Carmel Valley Road is located.

First person to name the spot was Mrs. Robert Ray, who picked up the Outlook at a local store, practically while the ink was still wet and immediately called at the office to identify the road sign. She was followed shortly thereafter, on Wednesday afternoon, by Don Cummings Jr. who also knew the correct location.

The youngest person to correctly identify the sign was fourth grader Susie Senger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Senger, who recognized it as a spot they had passed on their way to Ensenada, Mexico, during Christmas vacation. Susie sent a neatly written letter to the editor with her solution.

We had five or six calls at home from people who were sure that it was near Greenfield or King City, and we had several more who knew just where the sign was, but complained that they'd just gotten their Outlook about ten and couldn't have called earlier.

The Outlook thanks Bill Wood of Robles del Rio Lodge who sent us the photograph, thinking it might be fun to pass on to our readers.

After the conclusion of last Wednesday night's CVPOA election a violent discussion ensued relating to Supervisor Tom Hudson's proposals of the day before in relation to the 270 acres, plus 15, of the Del Mesa Carmel development.

Bitterly denouncing Hudson's recommendation to the Board of Supervisors that in case of park condemnation of the 270 acre Del Mesa Carmel greenbelt, valuation would be the basis of potential development, George Brown, St. E. P. Tyner and John Sigourney took the floor.

St. E. P. Tyner, stepping down

as CVPOA president, attacked the delaying tactics of Hudson in sending the Area Master Plan back to the Planning Commission for 90 days more study. He compared the 493 membership of the CVPOA with the 25 members of the MCCCCP which was organized by Hudson as an alternative plan. He implied that the delay was deliberate to allow the MCCCCP more time to organize against the Area Plan.

Former president George Brown asked for vigilance on incentive zoning. He stated that the Valley must guard against

The importance of participation

There were only 57 persons present last Wednesday night at Carmel Valley Property Owners meeting. Two additional persons arrived after the voting for new officers was over, but this is truly a sad representation of the 493 members of which the CVPOA organization boasts.

The goal is 1000 members, but the organization's collective voice for the Valley is seriously weakened if only one tenth of their members show up at an important meeting...to voice their views...agree or disagree with the board, or the nominating committee. The Board is powerful and can vote to support or blackball a Valley issue and then say this is the opinion of the CVPOA, "representing 493 members..." And the members can't really complain if they disagree but don't take the time or interest to put in a personal appearance.

There are also those who feel that the organization does not represent their views, so they say they don't want to be associated with it. As the organization grows, it could be more valuable in pointing out the desires of the Valley. But if people who disagree on certain points stay out, then how do their viewpoints get aired? It seems to be the healthy approach for people owning property which they wish to keep, or develop in some way, to have all views represented... then there can be a majority opinion...

Many large property owners are not members of the CVPOA...and many small 1/4 acre property owners likewise are not members. They may or may not have different points of view on what should be done in the Valley, but unless they say what their views are and back them up by their presence...they must just sit back and accept... "the unanimous decision of the board...representing 493 property owners..."

Upper Valley Advisory Board

The Planning Commission followed the recommendations of two Valley organizations when they appointed replacements on the Upper Valley Advisory Board. We feel that they have done us a service. By appointing retired architect Doyt Early, suggested by the CVPOA, they have put in an old Valley resident who has much feeling of preserving and developing the Valley in a way that is aesthetically good, and practically sound. He has worked hard for local causes, i.e., the community center and donated many hours of time on construction and planning of the community pool and bath house.

Skip Marquard, who, as a realtor represents business interests, is young and alert and the two should give a good balance to the board. Skip comes from a family background that has been involved in Valley development for many years, so he is as familiar with the background of the community as he is with what could happen in the future.

Annual Bike Rodeo on Feb. 5

The Carmel Annual Bicycle Rodeo, sponsored by the Police Department and the Recreation Department of the Carmel Unified School District, will be held on Saturday, February 5, at 9 a.m. at the Sunset North Field.

Bicycles will be checked for safety and 1966 licenses will be issued by the Carmel Police Department.

The Kiwanis Club, co-sponsors of this yearly event, will again donate prizes for the winners of the skill tests set up during the rodeo.

For further information please telephone the CUSD recreation office—624-3342.

Supervisor Hudson makes reply to CVPOA charges

Supervisor Tom Hudson released the following statement to the Outlook in reference to recent attacks on his actions regarding the Area Plan and the scenic easement dedication at Del Mesa Carmel.

"Unfortunately the recent name calling and intentional misrepresentation of my position on matters pertaining to the Area Plan can only serve to harm the Area Plan in its concept which is so vital to the long range development of the Monterey Peninsula. It may serve the political motivations of those few individuals, but it certainly will not help the Area Plan. My desires are not in any way to delay the adoption, but to insure clarification of the desires of both large and small landowners.

"The area plan, if it is to be a successful tool, must have the support of both the landowners and the individual citizens who are sincerely interested in planning. The only way that the recommendations of the Monterey County Planning Commission could be properly considered by the Area Planning Commission was for the plan to be referred back for final consideration as provided for by state law and as requested by Mr. Haddad of the Area Planning Commission. The ultimate plan will be far sounder and have far greater impact if this procedure is followed."

"I don't propose to allow a few individuals to endanger the final adoption of the Area Plan with their questionable tactics of name calling and insinuations of my integrity. The absurd suggestion that the Alcan people received a double incentive for the dedication of the open space hardly deserves a reply. The stipulation for higher payment in case of condemnation serves as a two-fold protection for the developer whose plans do not call for a public park, and protection for the investor who has purchased his share of the greenbelt."

CVPOA president tells his position in brief statement

Newly elected CVPOA president, Rex Pryer, told the Outlook:

"I don't agree with the personal attacks on Tom Hudson. I disagree with the decision of Alcan Pacific's 270 acres, but I don't feel that the majority of the Board of Supervisors were in any way acting other than what they thought was proper in making that decision."

another Del Mesa Carmel and keep a constant eye on Hudson.

"The hills must be preserved," Brown continued, "and we must not let the developers cash in!"

"Incentive zoning means different things to different people," Brown continued. "We must not write it into an ordinance, it would give a carte blanche to the supervisors," he concluded.

John Sigourney, a member of the Citizens Core Committee to the Area Planning Commission, asked the CVPOA Board to seek adoption of the Carmel Valley Master plan as an ordinance.

"We must make it legal and binding," he said, "Otherwise we have no protection."

"We must act for ourselves," he continued, "because we are going to see the Area Plan subverted. With Mr. Hudson's help the large landowners will kill it." Sigourney replied to questioning, that if it is impossible to have the Valley Master Plan adopted as an ordinance, then he would settle for the Slope Density Plan as prepared by the Spangle Corporation.

'Wine and Roses Ball' to benefit

Community Center

The second annual "Wine and Roses Ball" has been scheduled for Saturday, February 26, at Carmel Valley Inn. The party, sponsored by the Carmel Valley Lions Club, was a tremendous success last year, and is expected to attract over 400 people from throughout the peninsula.

Proceeds from the "Wine and Roses Ball" will again benefit the Carmel Valley Community Center. Following last year's dance, the Lions Club turned over a check for more than $500 as their donation to the Center.

Carmel Valley Lion, Ray Meyers, dance chairman, has announced that music will be provided by the Melody Men from Salinas. He added that the Ball will be a yearly Lions' Club project as long as the Valley supports it and as long as the Community Center needs financial help.

Tickets are being sold by 40 members of the CV Lions and a pattern of brisk sales has already been established, according to ticket chairman, Dick McKenzie. Donation is one dollar per person, and tickets may also be purchased at the door.

More than a dozen door prizes will also be given, and ticket holder need not be present at the dance to win.

Dancing at the "Wine and Roses Ball" will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m.

Fire Dept. called

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department was called to 27 River Road January 23 at 3:50 p.m. where minor damage resulted when a defective chimney ignited the roof. The dwelling owned by John Stusek is occupied by the Avila family.

Elegant party will benefit annual Heart Fund drive

February, the traditional month for Sweethearts and Valentines, will also be highlighted by the general benefit Heart Fund Cocktail Party, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Heart Association.

Co-chairmen for the much-anticipated social event are Tom Oliver and John Paul Jones. The party will be held Sunday, February 6 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

The Theme of this year's party is "The Year of the Frenchman." Barbara Tripp and Marlinde Von Ruhs will be in charge of decorations.

The public is invited. A donation of $7.50 entitles participants to an hour-and-a-half of fun, which includes cocktails to be served at booths manned by owners or managers of various hotels on the peninsula, plus sampling some of the Peninsula's best hors d'oeuvre prepared by professionals and talented amateurs.

Virginia Stanton, Party Editor of House Beautiful will be in charge of the judges faced with the difficult task of selecting the "best" from among dozens of delicious entries, and Al Fry—past president of the Hotel Association—will be in charge of hors d'oeuvre. Entry blanks may be obtained from Mr. Fry or at the Pine Inn, Carmel, or The Mark Thomas Inn, Monterey.

Carol M. McKee, managing owner of Carmel's Pine Inn and J. Dustin Smith, manager of Travelodge in Monterey, will be in charge of awards this year, which, as in previous years, will be handsome medallions to the creators of award-winning entries. Jack Dougherty is in charge of the bars. Mrs. Helen Burgh is in charge of signs for the event and Mrs. Kathleen Wood has the responsibility for the raffle tickets.

Guests in attendance at the party will have the opportunity to win "parties in the round" which have been an exciting part of the Heart Fund Cocktail Party since the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association began sponsoring it in 1958. Mr. Paul Reed is making arrangements for these parties.

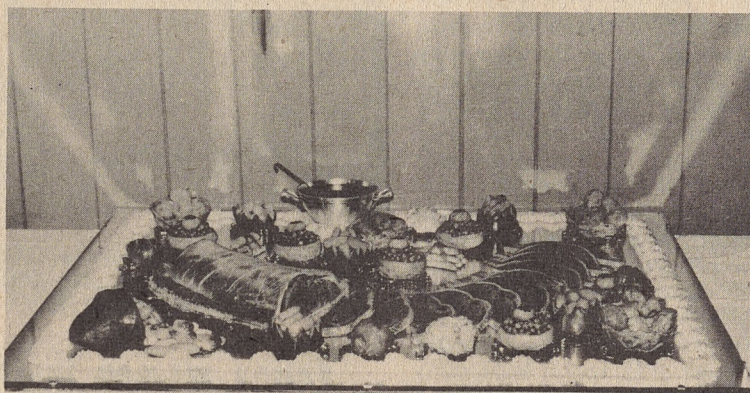

Winners of these progressive parties in the round will be the guests of several of the leading hotels for cocktails, hors d'oeuvre and dinner for six. Four such dinners of VIP treatment will be offered as prizes this year.

Co-chairmen of the ticket committee are Bill Godwin and Betty Carr. Lobos Lodge in Carmel has been named as headquarters for the Heart Fund Cocktail Party and tickets may be obtained there or from any hotel manager on the Monterey Peninsula.

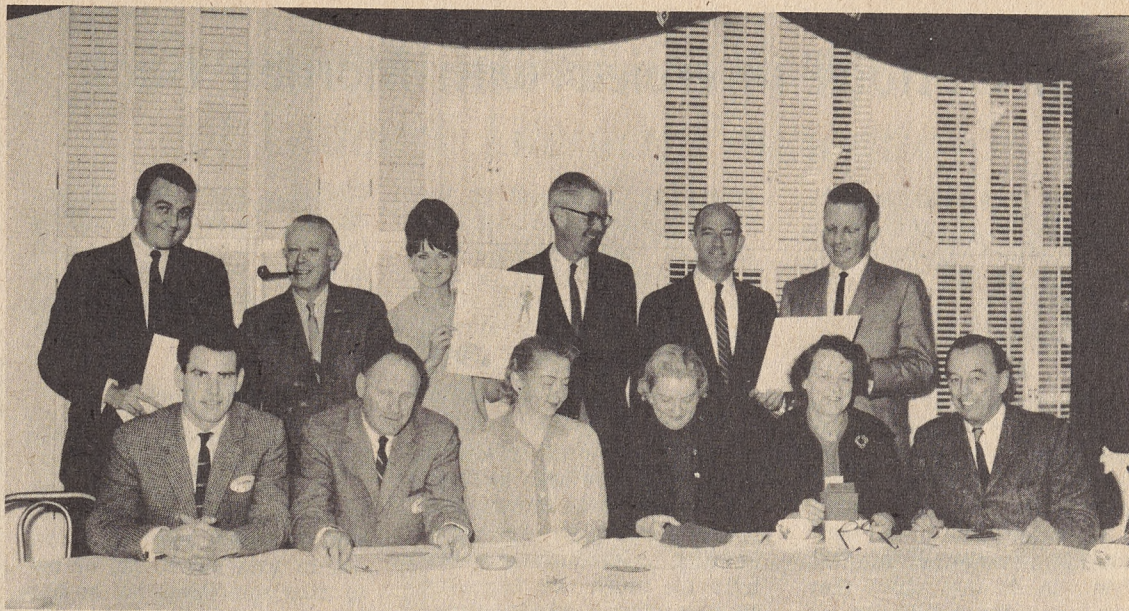

The Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association has set $5,000 as its goal this year to benefit the Central Mission Trail Heart Association.

Mike Marotta will furnish the music for the cocktail hour—and-a-half on Sunday, February 6 between 5:30 and 7 p.m. at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club—all proceeds to benefit the Heart Association.

A TYPICAL ARRAY of hors d'oeuvres which will be featured as part of the Heart Fund Cocktail party to be held Sunday, February 2, between 5:30 and 7 p.m. at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. The party is annually sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Assoc. and will follow a theme of "The Year of the Frenchman." Rene Verdon, former Kennedy chef at the White House, Jean Trocme, of the French Consul General's office, and Pierre Bultinck, formerly manager of St. Regis and Regency hotels in New York, will judge the entries.

An Outlook interview with Morden Buck

Morden Buck, chairman of the Upper Valley Advisory Board recently talked with the Outlook about his feelings toward the river, the hills and the moral obligations of planners.

River

"Our two greatest assets are our river and the beauty of the hills, because so far we haven't destroyed them. On the standpoint of our river...according to my understanding, the individual property owners have the right to do that which they choose as far as digging up the river in our area...the only regulatory agency being the Fish and Game Department.

As you know I am a great personal believer in property rights as one of the basics of our country, BUT I think that when it comes to a thing like this river, the public good must take complete precedent over any kind of property rights. Not only should we not, now, destroy a spawning area, or refrain from creating a flood hazard, but what we do must be on the plus side...what is done should be to the public advantage.

However, I do not believe it should be incumbent on the property owners to provide services in regard to the river. I think this river of ours is so much in the interest of the public that any consideration of private property must make way.

Hills

I think that on the standpoint of the hills...we have to learn a balance. I think we can, with proper planning, keep from desecrating or even damaging our hills too much. An improved cluster concept where advantages are accrued to a person who owns property by "stepping back one hill" will help to keep our hills beautiful.

While we don't literally own our view, nevertheless the law of supply and demand is working in such an extent that our views are diminishing. Therefore they are becoming increasingly valuable...and therefore, they are also in the realm of the public good. We certainly can't preserve the hills by buying them...no community has that kind of money..."

Buck continued, "Basically incentive zoning really isn't an incentive as regarded by the CVPOA. They feel if you cluster, the costs are a little lower so therefore that is your incentive...When incentive zoning is referred to in other places, there is a giving on both sides."

Obligations

On the obligations of planners, Buck had this to say:

"I think that a person who is really planning conscious and who is honest about it, is not out to gain something, or out to stop something, but he has to be surrounded by doubts...he certainly is aware of needs in planning, but at the same time a person of integrity is also aware of property rights. These two things while not necessarily constantly in conflict, sometimes are. They must be resolved together. If you wish to ignore property rights you are becoming a thief...if you ignore the community or social rights then you are equally wrong...to reconcile these two continually brings up an area of doubt which must be resolved.

One must be extremely knowledgeable and a constant student of planning..."

MORDEN BUCK, a resident of La Rancheria, and the newly elected Chairman of the Upper Valley Advisory Board, speaks of his views on the development of the Valley.

Valley women invited to attend film and discussion on peace

The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will meet on February 10 at the Little Theatre of Monterey High School. The theme of the meeting is "Are there ways of solving differences without resorting to violence?"

Preliminaries will start at 7:30 according to Mrs. Ann Nowell, and the film "Neighbors" will be shown at 8 p.m. Those wishing to attend only the movie and discussion may do so.

Following the film and discussion period, Dr. Nowell will read a paper on the "Interactional Approach to Teaching of Democratic Concepts."

The gathering is open to the public.

Feb. 10 PlanCom agenda concerns Valley matters

General development plan, including a service station, is scheduled for consideration Thursday afternoon February 10, by the county planning commission of the seven-acre Leonard Williams' property on Carmel Valley Road.

The property, which is already zoned commercial, lies to the east of Wolters Fruit stand and would be planned for retail business.

Public hearing on the proposed master plan for the 20,000 acre San Carlos ranch property is also slated.

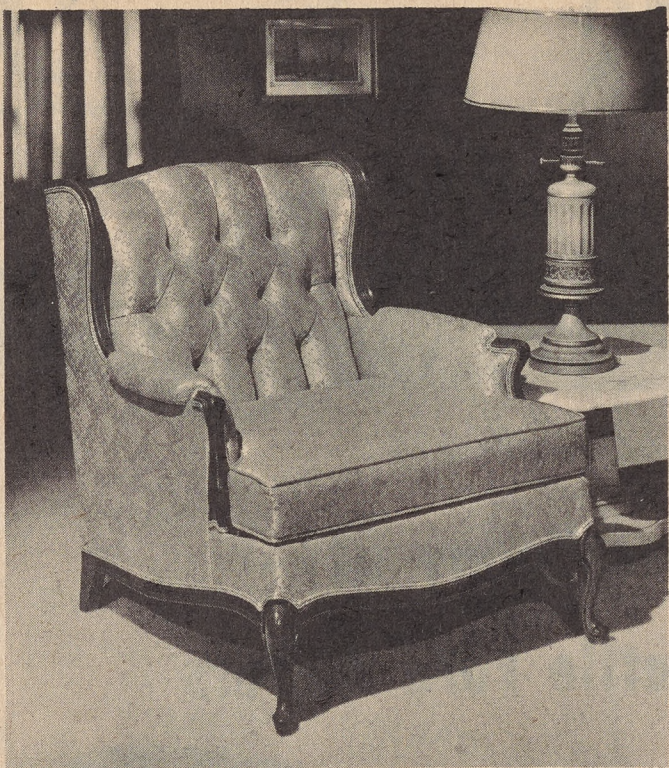

The afternoon session is scheduled to open at 1:30 with a hearing on removing "G" district zoning, or rural professional, from the county zoning ordinance; it applies now only to Carmel Valley.

Public hearing is also slated on a request for abandonment of roads, making them private roads, of roads of Carmel Golf and Country Club property.

Plan lines are scheduled to be set for connecting roads in two different places. The first is Meadow Place, a cul de sac which would connect Boranda Road and Meadows Road, and the second would be an extension of Rancho Rio Vista in Carmel Knolls.

Board of Zoning Adjustments due to consider gas station on CV road

The county board of zoning adjustments has scheduled on Thursday morning February 10 a public hearing, the second, on the application of Green Meadows, Inc. for a service station as an accessory use for the resort hotel planned at the entrance to the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club property.

The original application February 13 was approved for the hotel, but the service station was rejected. This is a re-application for the station, which developer Ed Haber points out would be hidden without a sign from Carmel Valley Road in the 10-acre hotel property.

Community Chapel Guild will learn of Lauback Literacy Foundation

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Boyer, who have just returned to Carmel after five years overseas, will be the guest speakers at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild meeting on Wednesday, February 9. They will show slides and speak of their experiences while working for the Lauback Literacy Foundation in the "Each One Teach One" program.

Boyer, former choral director and soloist with the Carmel Bach Festival, and his wife, Louise Cardeiro Boyer, have spent the past five years in Latin America and Europe. They have worked in Mexico teaching illiterates to read in their own language. In 1962, Mr. Boyer was made Latin American regional director for the Lauback program of "Each one Teach One." In this capacity they both trained teachers to work within the program.

The Community Chapel Guild will meet in Fellowship Hall at 12:15 with the program first on the agenda.

Interested guests are invited and guild members are reminded to bring their "birthday money" for the annual birthday party.

CV delegates to GOP meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Don Koontz and Larry Cummings of Carmel Valley will be among the delegates and alternates to the annual Young Republicans Convention to be held in Los Angeles from February 4 through 6.

The convention will be highlighted by the election of new state Young Republican officers and presentation of the final draft of the 1966 California YR platform for delegate approval.

In addition to the regular county delegate votes, a Monterey county representative will cast the regional vicepresident vote on the state level. Monterey County holds this vote in the present administration.

At a recent meeting in Salinas, representatives chose Gene Sweany, immediate past president of the Monterey Peninsula YR's, as the endorsed candidate for regional vicepresident.

Moslem rites to be subject of program for Carmel Woman's Club

"Into Forbidden Mecca," an illustrated record of a journey into the Holy City of Islam by Abdul Ghafur Sheikh, is the program for the General Meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on February 7 at 2 p.m.

Abdul Sheikh is the son of a prominent East African philanthropist, a graduate of Dartmouth College and the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. A devout Moslem and serious student of religion, Mr. Sheikh was made Deputy Director of the Islamic Congress at the recommendation of his highness, the late Aga Khan. He was invited by the Government of Pakistan to attend the International Islamic Colloquium and received the first award by the Asian Press Association for "best contribution toward world understanding," as well as similar honors from America.

Mr. Sheikh, with camera concealed under his flowing robes, made the Pilgrimage to the Holy City of Islam and recorded on film sights forbidden to the eyes of non-Moslems, in the interest of better world understanding. "National Geographic" featured these photographs and story in an unprecedented article of some sixty pages and "Life" also drew upon these same photographs for their series on "Great Religions."

Co-chairmen for the Hospitality Committee will be Miss Ianthe Densmore and Mrs. F.L. Knudsen, assisted by Miss Lillian Harrison, Miss Dorothy Peacock, Mrs. Jessie B. Caffee, Mrs. Carl Brick and Miss H. Josephine Peard.

Outlook on Carmel

Section of the Carmel Valley Outlook

While the fate of Sunset Center in Carmel still hangs fire, activities continue to take place there. The opening last week of the Young People's Art Center in the wing at far right demonstrated what could be done visually with a small amount of money and a large portion of elbow grease.

Last week also saw a medical convention using the auditorium and on Tuesday that facility will be the site of the Monterey County Symphony February concert. Carmel's Sunset commission has heard many plans for the future of Sunset.

Cultural Arts of the Monterey Peninsula recently announced they expected help from the state arts commission on selection of a site for its proposed cultural center. It might be Sunset.

While various groups debate the feasibility of remodeling the present structure, adding to it or leveling to make way the new buildings, Carmel's fire chief J. Robert Baker, has warned of Sunset's hazard. Persons could evacuate the auditorium with no trouble but an undetected fire would destroy the building in record time.

What ever its fate may be, Sunset Center continues to be a traditional and attractive landmark in Carmel as is proven by this photograph by Outlook guest photographer Bob Isaacs.

Count Bertrand d'Avenas will judge Heart Fund party contest

Count Bertrand d'Avenas of Carmel has been announced as a replacement judge in the Heart Fund Cocktail party's hors d'oeuvre contest. D'Avenas will take the place of Jean Trocme, commercial attache of the French Consul General's office, who will be unable to participate.

As a gourmet who not only appreciates good food, but insists on it, Count D'Avenas will join Rene Verdon, former White House chef during the Kennedy administration, and Pierre Bultinck as judges in this popular annual benefit.

Verdon, who now serves as a culinary consultant for Hamilton Beach Corporation, was invited to attend the Heart Fund party by Mrs. Virginia Stanton, House Beautiful party editor, who is in charge of selecting the judges. He is recognized as one of the foremost chefs in the world and served on the French luxury liner, Liberte, and at a number of famed European restaurants before coming to the Carlyle Hotel and Essex House in New York. Henri Corbat of l'Alliance Franciase will act as his interpreter.

Pierre Bultinck, was general manager of the St. Regis Hotel in New York during the era of Vincent Astor. In 1964 he received the Hospitality magazine "Hall of Fame Award" as hotel man of the year. He is a member of the Societe Culinaire Philanthropique and of Les Amis de Escoffier Society.

With a formidable board of judges, entrants better not try any shortcuts in their preparations...they are bound to be caught.

The Heart Fund party will be Sunday, February 6, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Church of the Wayfarer plans reception for new pastor

Members of the Church of the Wayfarer and friends in the community have been extended an invitation to attend a reception honoring the new pastor, the Rev. Alexander C. Bryans and Mrs. Bryans and children. The affair will be held in the Garden Room of the church on February 6 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Gordon N. Smith is reception chairman assisted by Mesdames H. J. Danel, Gordon Gulley, Evan M. Heid, Yale Martz, Kenneth Walker and

Miss Mary Illich.

The Bryans arrived this week in Carmel from their former pastorate at the University Park Methodist Church in Denver. They will reside in the manse at 11th and Lincoln. Among their children is a son, Marc, a college student; Glenn, a high school junior and daughter, Judy, a ninth grader.

The Rev. Bryans will fill the pulpit of the church of the Wayfarer for the first time Sunday, February 6.

Exchange students will speak at CHS

The American Field Service is sponsoring an assembly at Carmel High School this afternoon with three local AFS exchange students as guest speakers. Fred Martinot from Zeist, Netherlands, who attends Salinas High School, and Margarita Bustamonte from Concepcion, Chile, who attends North Salinas High, will be luncheon guests at Carmel High.

Sharyn Sinclair from Glenashley, Natal, North Africa, who is spending the year at Pacific Grove High School will attend classes and tour the campus after the assembly.

February 12-20 is American Field Service exchange week when students go to another area from where they have been staying. Carmel's guest, Cynthia Hares from England will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dawson during her week in Carmel. She will visit with junior and senior students at the High School, visit classes, and acquaint students with the AFS exchange program.

Next year the Carmel AFS chapter hopes to have raised enough money to sponsor an exchange high school student.

Monterey County Symphony will present concert on Tuesday

The west coast premiere of "Orchestral Design" by David Mulder of Salinas is one of the highlights of Tuesday's Monterey County Symphony concert at Sunset Auditorium. Mr. Mulder is an instructor of music at Salinas High School and a recognized composer of unique originality.

The renowned cellist, Rolf Storseth, who first appeared with the Monterey County Symphony as first cellist last year, will be the soloist for the February 8 concert. He has been leading a double life, continuing to be a member of the San Francisco Symphony as well. Following this appearance as soloist, he will again resume his place as first cellist with Monterey after a break in which he appears with the San Francisco Opera orchestra.

Concertmaster, George Nagata, will also return to the Symphony for this next concert.

Glee club concert at RLS

A concert will be given on Monday, February 7 at Robert Louis Stevenson School by the Pomona College Glee Clubs. The 8:15 p.m. concert is open to the public and tickets are one dollar.

The event is under the joint sponsorship of the Stevenson School and Santa Catalina School for Girls. The Pomona Glee Clubs are on their annual mid-year tour which takes them as far as the San Francisco Bay area.

Color families other than yellow, orange and green

By Belva Sanford, F.A.I.D.

An intriguing color combination is based on blues, greens and blue-purples, but the handling of it requires more finesse than the family of yellows, oranges and greens. Cool blues and greens may be used in larger areas and in a stronger state, since they are calm and restful to the eye. Try emerald, lapis and amethyst, foiled with zircon, foam green and white. If it seems a bit cold, accent with a flash of hot color. Cool colors are especially effective when used as a foil for all your garden flowers. In this way you have a constant change of color arrangements around the entire season and feel that your room is never monotonous.

Have you ever tried cutting clips of colors and playing with them? Last week a reader did this with Christmas cards and had an exciting, vibrant arrangement, easily translated to various areas in her room.

A word of warning—when using any of the purples, one should remember that the yellow of electric lights tend to neutralize purples, violets and lavenders, and will wash out a tint of these to a sickly grey.

Now take red as a base, with its neighbors red-orange and red-purple. This can be really explosive. Here one would need to use tints of shell pink, blush peach, white or light grey. Strong aggressive colors need expert handling, but with the use of their weaker tints, they combine more easily. An example: floor covering white, walls shell pink, fabrics blush peach, lipstick red, white and violet—all in prints or stripes. Then echo the sharp colors in accessories, thus accenting them throughout the room.

Photographers invited to enter Monterey Symphony Assn. contest

A county-wide contest, open to all amateur photographers, was announced by Monterey County Symphony Association vice-president Robert Stanton. Winners' photographs will be used for Symphony concert programs, brochures and general publicity and will carry the photographers credit line.

Al Weber, instructor in photography at Monterey Peninsula College, will act as contest director and consultant. Judges will be a trio of widely known professional photographers: Steve Crouch of Carmel, George Seidneck of Carmel Valley and Wynn Bullock of Monterey.

Because photographs submitted must in some manner depict the orchestra's activities, contestants are invited to attend an orchestra dress rehearsal in Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, on Sunday afternoon February 6, at 3 p.m. They will see and hear the orchestra in action and be allotted time to take pictures from their requested angles.

Individual contestants may submit any number of photographs—action or abstract unmounted glossy prints, identified on the reverse side with name, address and telephone number. All photographs submitted will become the property of the Symphony Association.

The deadline for contestants will be February 16, with all material received at Symphony headquarters (mailed or delivered) Sunset Center, Carmel, P.O. Box 3851.

Prizes awarded will be: First prize $25, second prize $15, and third prize $10. The judges will also make 10 honorable mentions.

Contest results will be announced and awards made at a tea, the date to be announced.

Printed sheets of contest rules may be obtained in Carmel Valley at the General Store and at Monterey County Symphony headquarters in Sunset Center, Carmel. Copies may be obtained by mail upon application to P.O. Box 3851, Carmel.

David Schetter in Jr. College Honor Band

David Schetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Schetter of Schulte Road, is one of four MPC students which have been selected for the California Junior College Honor Band. Other MPC students who have also been chosen to perform are Michael Stevens of Pebble Beach and Alan O'Dea and Robert Imagawa of Seaside.

The four Peninsula students will play with the 100 piece honor band, in Stockton, at San Joaquin Delta College on February 10-12. The band, made up of students from 75 junior colleges, will be conducted by Robert Wagner of the University of Oregon.

AFTER EACH PERFORMANCE of the White Oak's Children's Theatre, the performers gather outside to meet with the youngsters who have attended. The wonderment of children as they approach LIVE actors is almost as much fun as this particular play, "The Wonderment of Gleep." AT TOP, Gleep in the person of Gale Peterson is at left, while the pirate's daughter Bertha Nightshade, played by Mary Pattie, sits at center. BELOW--WALTER ROTH of Carmel, a regular booster of Carmel Valley's White Oak's Theatre, joined Linda Boblitt (right) and a group of afternoon spectators after last Sunday's opening of the children's show.

DANCER DALE MORSE represents the hey-days of Irene Castle in this number from "U.S.A.," a recollection of the years surrounding World War I, which is playing Friday and Saturday nights, 8:30, at White Oaks Theatre.

The Wonderment of Gleep
for Children
Sunday 2:30

At White Oaks Theatre

'The Wonderment of Gleep' is an enchanting experience for youngsters

A series of marvelously "camp" characters engage in antics that had both children and adults in stitches at Sunday's opening of "The Wonderment of Gleep." Written, directed and acted (the parts of Gleep and Ralph) by Gale Peterson of the White Oaks company, it is the best thing to come off the Children's Theatre boards this season or last.

In traditional whiteface mime makeup, Gale does an excellent job of pantomime. Gleep's facial expressions and impressions of the other characters as he describes them or tells a story without speaking are wonderful.

Although the play is full of cliché's, with tongue in cheek, which the adults in the audience chuckle over, each character is so exaggerated in his own right, and so funny that no point escapes the children. The story about a farcial treasure hunt by unbelievable characters is imaginatively done against the simplest of sets.

The scene changes are done by the actors as usual, who make it a game to change the sets. The funniest change occurs when Gleep changes the stage from an island to a lake and then "swims" off.

Each character is done so well that individual praise is difficult. Captain Nightshade is played by Rick Morse, his daughter who slaves for him and is pretty flippant on the side, by Mary Pattie. The slow, slow, kind and naive Willoughby is Ron Mitchell. His "monstrous little sister," Billy June is played by the ever effervescent Linda Boblitt. Dale Morse, as Rosebud, is vague, stumbling, sweet as almost not there most of the time, which is the way she should be.

The dragon is a magnificent beast...Children's eyes were aglow all over the theatre when he made his appearance. Some of the time it was difficult to make out the dialogue through the echo chamber effect and all those dragony teeth. Since his riddles and play on words are important we would suggest a little better enunciation or a clearer passageway for the voice to come through. This is the only slow point in the play.

The White Oaks children's plays are just the right length so young attentions won't be over-taxed. This one is so simple it's ridiculous, and so ridiculous it is simple. Both children and adults should love it. There wasn't a single squirm or wiggle at Sunday's performance even from the little ones.

Go see it...and take the kids... it's fun!

—G.D.

Change in policy at Community Theatre told

A sweeping change in membership privileges has been announced by the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, now offering season tickets to its plays at the Circle Theatre in Carmel. Regular membership in the organization now entitles the holder to admission on Saturday evenings, as well as on Fridays and Sundays.

Sponsor and patron members, formerly the only ones whose season tickets were valid on Saturdays, will now have the added privilege of reserving specific seats at the theatre until curtain time. The Circle has previously had a no-reserved-seats policy since its inception in 1953.

All members of the Community Theatre receive invitations to opening night parties, children's plays, workshops and special events, as well as a regular newsletter on theatre activities. Season tickets are good for one year from the date they are issued.

Regular membership in the organization is priced at $14, with a special educational rate of $10 for students and teach-

Record attendance at NPGS art show

As of Monday, January 25, over 2200 people had viewed the religious art show in the main ballroom of Herrmann Hall at the Navy Postgraduate School. The highest number of visitors for any single day was 459 last Sunday. As it passed the halfway mark, officials predicted a record total show attendance of up to 3500 people. Total attendance at the religious art show last year was 1700.

The show, which opened on January 16, and has been open to the public from 12 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, closed last Sunday.

Imaginative work on display at new Young People's Art Center

Paint and hard work by Carmel Arts Commission members and paint and imaginative work by Carmel High School art students, have been combined to produce a highly successful show...and gallery...at the new Young People's Art Center in Room 11 of Sunset Center, in Carmel.

Sixty dollars worth of paint and wall board has transformed a monstrosity of a pea green, yellow and orange room at the old Sunset School into a gallery to serve the creative arts interests of Peninsula young people.

The first show to be presented at the Center is from classes at Carmel High School. Each exhibit will hang for approximately three weeks, and the next scheduled show has already been chosen by the Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula.

The Gallery is to be used for presentation of all forms of children's creative arts from kindergarden through high school. Each exhibit will be on its own age level. The Carmel Arts Commission who has sponsored the Center, hopes to expand its boundaries well beyond the field of painting. Future plans include displays of jewelry, woodworking, sculpture, pottery, stitchery, and musical performances.

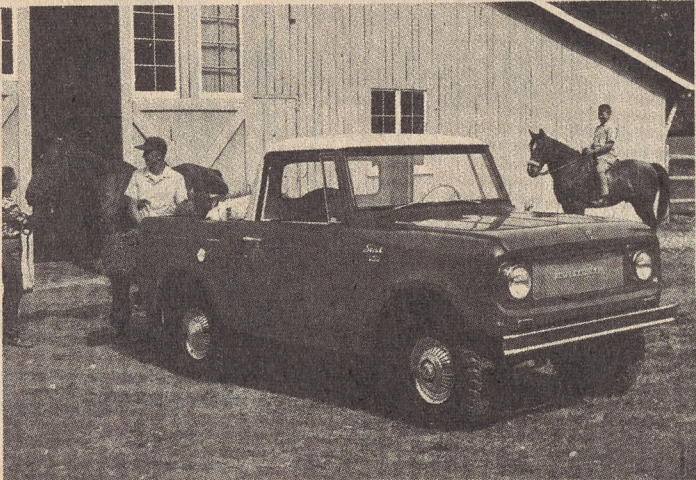

The Young People's Art Center will be staffed by volunteer workers and at present has scheduled hours on Mondays from 2:30 to 5:30 and on Tuesdays and Fridays from 3:30 to 5:30. However, the gallery will be open by appointment at any time for groups or classes.

Mrs. Norberg said at Thursday's opening of the Center, "I would like to see recognition of creative art come up to the same prestige level as winning an athletic letter. We would like it to become the 'in thing' to be in an exhibition at the Young People's Art Center."

ABOVE—Visitors to the preview opening of the Young People's Art Center spent more time looking at paintings, and less time socializing, than at most art openings. The examples of work by Carmel High students came from classes taught by Bill Stone who is new to the staff this year, and Valley artist, Jeanne Fosnot, who teaches part time.

ABOVE—Bill Stone, art teacher at Carmel High, was questioned at length by spectators as to "how" some of the paintings were done. Stone and Mrs. By-ture renderings of melted crayon and colored sands, "Op Art" and water colors are among the many examples hung in the high school show.

Lionettes donate Braille typewriter to Del Rey Woods Elementary School

The Carmel Valley Lionettes held their January dinner meeting at the Shutters Restaurant in Monterey. Mr. Ed. Manning, principal of Del Rey Woods Elementary school accepted on behalf of the Monterey School District the presentation of the Brailier, purchased by the organization with proceeds earned from a dinner which they catered and a bake sale.

Mr. Manning stated that he was surprised and gratified when a group undertakes and completes a project with the rapidity of this one. It was only October when Mr. Manning was contacted and expressed the need for more Braille typewriters for his thirteen blind students. The enrollment of each new student makes two new machines necessary since one is required for school instruction and one at home for practice.

Del Rey Woods which is staffed and equipped for educating handicapped children combines classes with regular pupils in addition to separate instruction. One of their greatest problems is transportation with the pupil from Chular presently traveling the greatest distance.

His mention of a wonderful group of volunteer transcribers and their need for equipment has given the Valley group new fields to consider in their wish to aid with the education of children with sight problems.

Mrs. Milton Frumkin who was hostess for the evening introduced the guests who were Mrs. Ben Maiser, Mrs. Ethelyn Hartwell, Mrs. Olive Skaaden, and Mrs. Patty Blatnik, who was winner of the door prize.

The members volunteered to sell tickets on the door prize at the Wine and Roses Ball on February 26.

Former students exhibit photos at MPC

An exhibition of photographs by David Allen and Robert Crispin of Pacific Grove, former MPC students now attending Fresno State College, opened yesterday in the college library lecture hall.

The show will feature pictures of "Georganne" (Georganne Demarest, MPC sophomore and former Miss Monterey County) by Allen and a mixture of portraits and pictures of sports and entertainment events by Crispin.

The public is invited to view the exhibition between the hours 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. February 1-4 and 8 a.m. through 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday thereafter, except when classes or meetings are being held in the hall.

Allen and Crispin became interested in photography in 1963 and later studied with photography instructor Al Weber at the college.

When they transferred to Fresno State College last spring, they swept an annual photo contest there, with Allen winning the Sweepstake Award and one of six categories and Crispin winning two categories.

White Oaks plans workshop for Theatre staff and company

A workshop for members of the White Oaks resident company, will present at no admission charge the first in a series of Sunday night performances on February 6 at 7:30 p.m.

According to artistic director Gale Peterson, the new plan "...allows the theatre staff and company to work without worrying about the commercial problems of 'selling a show.' It's all for free and it gives us a chance to experiment. We can involve ourselves in various aspects, realms of acting, directing, designing, even playwriting, that might otherwise go unlearned. We'll be trying everything."

This first series, which will run through February 20, will include three one-act plays: Noel Coward's satiric "Fumed Oak" directed by Shirley Eoff; scenes from "Henry II" and "Death of a Salesman" directed by Rick Morse; "The Sandbox" by Edward Albee, author of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" under the direction of Martin Herzer.

Workshops will be conducted on a repertory basis with plays periodically interchanged to provide a balanced evening of theatre.

Voter registration deadline Feb. 3

Deadline for voter registration is February 3, and as the special election on a 70 cent override tax for educational purposes has been set for March 29, voters are reminded to contact one of the following area registrars if they need to register:

By Mildred Hattan

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Diaz Sr. were married December 28, 1940 at the Sacred Heart Church in Salinas. It was in honor of this happy twenty fifth occasion that their children Mr. and Mrs. Dean Diaz Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Louis Guyot, and Johnny Diaz planned a reception for them at the Plaza Linda. Ground work for the surprise celebration began last summer before their trip to Mexico when friends and relatives who had to travel a great distance were alerted that a party was in the planning stages. When their actual anniversary date came and assed with merely a dinner, the couple were less than prepared for the following events.

Jenny and Dean left on a Saturday evening for Salinas to help panel the rumpus room of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Ortiz, with plans to drive over to Monterey later for dinner. It was there that they received a phone call from their son, Dean, asking them to come through the Valley on the way into Monterey so that he and his wife could join them for dinner. Arriving at the Plaza Linda they found the celebration of a 25 wedding anniversary in full swing. A bountiful ham buffet had been prepared by the hosts and hostesses accompanied by cocktails and an evening of dancing. Exquisite silver gifts presented to the honored couple included trays, a punch bowl and goblets. Among guests waiting to congratulate them were Mrs. Rudy Luna of San Jose who had served as Jenny's maid of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Soti of Ventura, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lopez, El Paso Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanchez, San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Casarez, Artesia, Calif., Mrs. Pat Gurule, Lakewood, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Casarez, Artesia, Mrs. Pat Gurule, Lakewood, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Casarez, Fresno, Mrs. and Mrs. Alex Zermueo, Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Chavez, San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Rivas, San Jose, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Guyot, Monterey and from Watsonville, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Espinoza and Mary Ellen, Mr. and Mrs. John Navarro and Mrs. Jesus Parra. Others attending were: Mmes. and Mssrs. Jack Herrmanson, Jim Baker, Alex Diaz, Ralph Blumenthal, Bubbles Diaz, Sam Corona, John Camacho, Ralph Jella and Troy, Don Cummings, Less Jewett, Fernando Artalejo and Joe, Adolfo Artaljo, Larry Cummings, Ernest Rivas, Ray Gutierrez, Sam Jurey, Luis Guyot

II, Lloyd Casarez, Gilbert Mendivil, Leoncio Collas, Louis Allaire, Manuel Casarez, Mal Tavares, Bill Williams, Mrs. David Garilay, Leonard Ortiz Sr., Leonard Ortiz Jr., Chip Collins, Robert Chavez, Charles Gansel, William Hall, Jose Mendivil, Eugene Baker, George Palmer, Greg Zermueo, Ed Hernandez, George Baker, Nick Skalyo, Joe Ramirez, Miss Beverly Sanchez, Mrs. Amy Carillo, Mrs. Marge Bennett, Tom Sanchez and Don Cummings Sr.

A warm Valley welcome to new residents on Poppy Road, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Van Hart who have rented the Reynolds home. Former residents of the famed tulip bulb area of Holland, Michigan, the Van Harts had vacationed in our area and liked it so well that they decided to settle here. Other members of the family include a seven year old son, Jeff, who is enrolled at Tularcitos, a daughter, Paula who is four and five month old Chris.

The Salinas Volunteer Fire Department hosted the Central Coast Counties Fire Departments' dinner meeting held last week at the Portugese Hal on Natividad Road. The steak dinner was followed by demonstrations of their diesel engines and films of the Bel Air fire. Representing the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department were Fire Chief Chip Collins, and firemen Don Weber, Louis Allaire, Charles Gansel, Don Corona, and Bill Parham.

Mrs. W. H. Sears of Joannes Sportswear and Mrs. Donald Laird of Joanne's Boutique have returned from a buying trip to the spring and summer ready-to-wear market in San Francisco. So impressed was Joanne with the special fabric called Koratron that nothing purchased in her shop from the new merchandise will need pressing. Demonstrations showed whole garments of the never-press material placed in the over, and baked, making them indestructible from thread, sewing on the buttons, to the entire product. Joanne found a soft pink to be the predominant color with alot of white to set off those hoped for Valley sun tans. And speaking of sun tans some of this year's swimsuits sound sensational with matching jackets of such unlikely materials as gold kid and black lace. Mary Laird's purchases for the Boutique included items for Valentines Day, Mother's Day, Patio and at home wear.

cluded items for Valentines Day, Mother's Day, Patio and at home wear.

Saying goodbyes to their many Valley friends this week are Alberta and Tom Burton who with their five sons are moving to Windsor which is located near Santa Rosa. Tom has a home under construction there for them and the boys will attend school at nearby Healdsburg. The popular couple have sold their home at 28 Paso Cresta to Mrs. Clay Ramsey of Pacific Grove. It will be occupied by her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Shepherd and two children. Her other daughter is Patricia Wester who with her husband, Don, recently purchased the Country Club Way home formerly owned by Mrs. Joan Bennett. Completing the "round robin," Mrs. Bennett and her daughters have purchased a home on Laurel Drive formerly owned by the Alex von Drachenfels who have moved to Monterey.

Mary Baugh returned to the Valley last week after a three week absence from her home on Calle de la Ventana. After a visit in Flagstaff, Arizona, with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Strasser and 18 month daughter, she went on to Bisbee, Arizona to visit her mother, Mrs. J. M. Lynn. Leaving the icicles of Arizona, Mary continued on to Las Vegas where she stayed with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baugh Jr. and daughter. Bill Sr. met her there for the return trip hom where they insist the weather is much more spring-like than any found near the Arizona resorts.

Neva and Carl Maiser welcomed houseguests who arrived from Waconia, Minn. to spend the golf tournament, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maiser and son T.J. Also visiting is Neva's sister, Ethelyn Hartwell of Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Hall and their eight children have moved from their home on Paso Hondo to the former Frisbie home on Rancho Road.

Grace Maher and her daughter, Mrs. James Yuma, attended the Spring and Summer market at the Palace Sheraton in San Francisco last week to buy new merchandise for her ready-to-wear shop in the Carmel Valley Shopping Center. They noted that an orange, yellow, coral and brown collection of shades usually associated with Fall had come into their own in Spring wear and that "pastels were great," from the things shown at the Spring Fashion held at Peacock Court. Mary Anne and Grace rewarded themselves for their buying duties with dinner at Fisherman's Wharf and exploring the newly opened Ghiradelli Square.

It is always nice to be able to welcome old friends when they return to the Valley such as Marta Fulgham who has resumed her position at Dr. C.W. Van Horn's office. Marta led a busy life while living in San Carlos where she was a doctor's receptionist during the day and taught classes to medical assistants at night. Shortly after her return to the Valley she underwent knee surgery, but celebrated a complete recovery when she was able to attend a dance last week, sans crutches.

Rancho del Monte Resort, meeting spot for the Tuesday night gathering of bridge enthusiasts who are known as the Valley Bridge Club announce that winners last Tuesday evening were first place, Mrs. Mary Drobek and Mrs. Mary Angier; second place, Paul Schwartz and Hills Lee; third place, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Matthews.

Lambert Dolphin Jr. will be guest speaker at Christian Women's Club dinner

Lambert Dolphin Jr. of Palo Alto will be the guest speaker on February 10 when the Christian Women's Club of the Monterey Peninsula holds its annual Men's Night dinner at the Mark Thomas Inn. A friendship time will precede the 7:30 p.m. dinner.

A graduate of San Diego State and Stanford, Mr. Dolphin is a research physicist with the Stanford Research Institute. His special fields include atmospheric physics, satellite, rocket and nuclear effects in the ionosphere, the aurora, radio communications and propagation of radio waves.

He is a member of many societies, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and Sigma Pi Sigma.

After a long search among philosophies and religions of the world, plus several years of psycholysis, Mr. Dolphin will discuss the relevance of faith in a scientific age and what he believes, from personal experience, is the key to life and the secret of the universe.

Philip M. Jenkins, Fresno artist whose painting "PT to the Attack" is in the late President Kennedy's collection, will be a special feature of the evening. His sandpaper pastels reflect his love of the sea and will be a rare treat for men who also love the sea, and his vibrant water colors attract everyone.

A supervising deputy probation officer in Fresno County, Mr. Jenkins tests each new painting by showing it to the youngsters in Juvenile hall. Some have taken a new outlook on creative art and find emotional outlet from the hobby.

Another feature will be the appearance of Lyle Richardson, nationally known concert baritone, who was chosen to sing "On the Street Where You Live" to Lisa in the Broadway production of "My Fair Lady."

A native of Philadelphia, he was selected for a scholarship to the Philadelphia Academy of Vocal Arts. Later, in appreciation, he established the Richardson Scholarship to the Academy, providing a musical education to the beginning student, a soloist judged best in oratorio.

Mr. Richardson, who has toured this country and abroad, now is minister of music at Westminster Presbyterian Church in San Jose.

All who are interested are cordially invited to attend this special event. Reservations must be made by Friday, February 4, with Mrs. Dave Currie, 624-4877 or Mrs. Donald Hardy, 372-8973.

DENISE CULLEN and Mike Orton treated each other to hors d'oeuvres at their engagement party last Sunday at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Denise Cullen and Mike Orton betrothed

Bouquets of yellow and white flowers adorned tables at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, forming a springlike background for the engagement party of Denise Cullen and Mike Orton, last Sunday. Piano music for dancing was played by Jerry de Winter.

Denise's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cullen of La Rancheria, revealed the young couple's June wedding plans to friends of both families at the afternoon reception. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Orton of Pebble Beach and Lemoore, in the San Joaquin Valley.

Denise is a Carmel High School graduate and is in her second year at MPC. She has a sister, Mrs. John Alleman of San Jose, and a brother, Richard, who is in school at Tahoe.

Mike went to Lemoore High School, MPC and Coalinga Junior College. His twin sister, Mrs. Larry Crouch, lives in Columbia, Missouri, and his brother David, lives with the family.

Although the date has not been set in June, Mike and Denise will be married when he is through with his Navy Basic training. He leaves shortly for boot camp.

The Sheriff's Blotter

By REX PRYER

JAN. 22—A resident of Valle Vista, reported a young man was outside shooting a pellet gun at birds an hour before. She talked to him and he stopped, but since she had mentioned it previously to no avail she thought sheriff better talk to him. The deputy arrived, but youth was not home. He left a message with the nite shift about warning him on the county ordinance.

JAN. 23—A Valley resident reported model airplanes at Middle School. Deputy told the person flying plane of complaints...and the person left.

JAN. 18—Arthur Taafe of Valley Hills Liquor store reported someone stealing things from Leavell's. The deputy got there while persons were still present. They showed him copy of court order from bankruptcy court authorizing them to take items. Taafe claimed that order was no good. Deputy talked to Taafe's attorney who said it was a civil matter...so deputy let them take things on court order.

JAN. 19—A resident of Upper Circle reported her freezer broken into and $90 worth of goods stolen. The freezer was in garage and not locked.

JAN. 20-21—A resident reported her estranged husband was at her house after midnight and threatened to kill her three children by a former marriage. He got a gun from under the mattress and was waving it. Man was gone by time deputy arrived. She went to DA's office and got a warrant for displaying a gun in a threatening manner. On Jan. 21 deputy arrested man.

JAN. 20—A resident of Los Arboles reported that someone took a camouflaged parachute from a haystack the previous day.

JAN. 22—A gardener on Esquiline road reported that sometime during the past night someone with a pick damaged water faucets and dug up seven foot of blacktop exposing waterline.

JAN. 21—Secretary for Robert Talbott building reported that between 5:30 and 6 p.m. someone had taken the following from Mr. Talbott's Car which was parked behind the building: A Sony transistor radio worth $75, keys to the car, a goldplated keyring with zodiac design worth $12 and an antique silver champagne bucket worth $275.

THE "SHOUTIN'" 28th Army Band presented two hour-long concerts to the Seaside and Carmel High School Bands. Mr. John Farr, Carmel High School Band Conductor greets Chief Warrant Officer Walter R. Kinney, 28th Army Bandmaster while Sergeant First Class Edward Villaruel and Carmel High Drum Major Carl Cecka look on. Purpose of the concerts was to make high school band members aware that it is possible to enlist in the Army and continue their musical interests by playing in an Army Band.

Janet Rene, Lynn Smith engagement announced

Major (USA ret.) and Mrs. Frank M. Blasius of South Carmel Hills recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Janet Rene, to Lynn William Smith.

Rene and Lynn were toasted at a "welcome home" dinner for Lynn at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith of Carmel Valley.

Rene is a graduate of Carmel High School and is now a student at MPC majoring in dental assisting. Rene has a brother, Dennis, of Pacific Grove, a half-brother, Donald Blasius of Las Vegas, Nevada, and another half-brother, Jay Blasius, of Downey, California. Her grandmother is Mrs. Archie C. Hall, formerly of Glencoe, Illinois, now of Carmel.

Lynn, also a graduate of Carmel High School, has just returned from Da Nang Viet Nam where he was serving in the See Bees, U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion. He has completed his time in service and will enter MPC next semester. Lynn is the brother of Mrs. Victor Haskin and Mrs. Stanley Howes of Watsonville and Mrs. Emmett McPherson of Santa Clara. No date has been set for the wedding.

The Rhyming Philosopher

You ask me what is love, my dear,
Its mystery is not defined
In bounds of word, nor may we hear
Its sound, or sight or taste in kind.

Affection satisfies the heart;
Devotion aids a sighing soul,
And faith and trust may play their part,
But love has still another role.

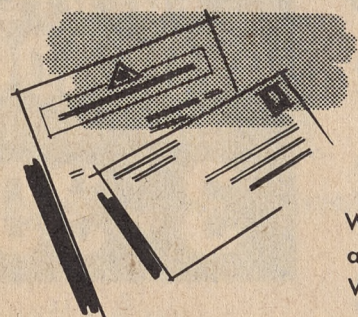

For love supplies unspoken need,
The understanding and the grace
To give unasked—is there to heed
The muted cry, the trysting place.

Most bless'd is he whose need is met;
For some it's just to live and die,
While others need the world, and yet
For me it's just an apple pie!

MPC offering special course in tax preparation

As a community service, Monterey Peninsula College will offer a special short course in income tax form preparation during the spring semester, according to Dr. Keith Merrill, MPC evening dean.

Starting February 10, the non-credit class, designed as an aid to the person who prepares his own return, will meet on eight consecutive Thursdays, 7 to 9 p.m. in the library lecture hall on campus. Enrollment will be limited to 50 and advance registration with the evening dean's office will be required. Thomas F. Saake, assistant chairman of MPC's business division, will instruct.

The special course is not to be confused with Business 61, Income Tax Procedures, which also meets Thursday evenings during the spring semester. A full semester course carrying three units, Business 61 is designed as a survey course for vocational work, and students must fulfill an accounting prerequisite before enrolling. Breck Tostevin, a certified public accountant who formerly taught at Golden Gate College will instruct this course.

CHS participating in Bank of America achievement awards

Carmel High School is among those which are competing in the 1966 Bank of America

Achievement Awards program. Cash awards of $1,000 will be given to 16 of Northern California's finest all-around high school seniors. Other local schools which will participate are Monterey, Junipero, Santa Catalina, and Pacific Grove.

In 1966 Bank of America will award 6,400 certificates, 2,300 plaques and $99,000 in cash to seniors throughout the state. Plaque award winners from each school will have the opportunity to advance to zone competition in Salinas on April 28, according to W. L. Spraggins, local coordinator from the Salinas B of A branch.

Students will be judged on the basis of scholastic achievement, extra curricular activities, and interviews before a panel of civic leaders. The top students in each of four fields, science and mathematics, liberal arts, fine arts and vocational arts will then advance to the final event. The finals will take place in Fresno on May 25, with students competing for cash awards from $150 to $1,000 in each study field.

Carmel Foundation purchases building at 5th & Lincoln

Apartments at the corner of 5th and Lincoln in Carmel have been purchased by the Carmel Foundation for residence of 12 older persons, it was announced this week by Mrs. Fred Glascock, president of the Foundation.

The purchase will nearly double the Foundation's housing units for the elderly; it also owns Trevett Court for nine people and Niles House for four.

Purchase of the additional apartments was made possible by a trust fund established by the late Miss Orre Barnes Haseltine.

A long-time resident of Carmel Valley, on Los Ranchitos Road, she was one of the original organizers of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, and was a leader of good land-planning. She is credited with being a moving force in creation of the Valley master plan, which was originally financed with private contributions.

Miss Haseltine was a Vassar graduate and worked with Cleveland Associated Charities and Boston Associated Charities, before moving to Carmel in 1921. She was prominent in the League of Women Voters for 25 years on the Peninsula. Annual meeting of the Carmel Foundation will be scheduled in March, followed by an open house of the new apartment units.

'Pepe' film slated to benefit exchange students

The color movie "Pepe," with Cantinflas will be presented Friday night at Brey Hall of Carmel High School at 7:30 p.m. The show is sponsored by the Carmel chapter of the American Field Service and is billed as a family affair. Student admission is 75¢ and adults are $1.

Preserve Sunset Center pleas heard at Carmel Citizens Committee meeting

"Preserve Sunset Center" was the nearly unanimous opinion expressed at a meeting of the Carmel Citizens Committee Monday night at All Saints' Episcopal church in Carmel.

New officers announced by Admiral C. W. Fisher, president, whose term runs another year, include Earl L. Moser, executive vice president; Chester Coulter, Donn P. Medalie and Dr. John Pasmore, directors.

Elected to the nominating committee, which will report next October, were Mr. Medalie, Howard Murphy, Howard Bruggeman and Steve Sassoon.

The Committee was organized in 1958 to work towards the preservation of the beauties of Carmel.

The nearly lone dissenting voice on the Sunset question was expressed mildly by Mrs. Eleanor Melvin, who helped develop a much larger center in Peoria, Illinois, before moving here. She pointed out that representatives of all local cultural organizations with membership in the recently-organized Arts Coordinating Council have voted for a larger auditorium, from 1200 to 1500 seats, in contrast with Sunset's 720 seats.

Mayor Herbert Blanks, in answer to a question, explained the city's five-year-old master plan calls for a city-government center at the city-owned property on the southeast corner of Junipero Serra and 4th. "This is the city's official position at the present time," he added, "although the subject is scheduled for review next June."

The mayor also gave a talk on "The Role of the Citizen in Government." He urged citizens to know the laws under which they live and "to participate some way in your government where your influence will be felt."

He pointed out that it is sometimes desperately hard to fill positions on Carmel's three commissions and one board. "There is a great cry for better people in government."

Giving the treasurer's report, Earl Moser reported the Committee had a net balance of $1,023.60.

Admiral Fisher, who presided, reviewed a long list of important developments in the area last year, from the battle against the Humble oil refinery at Moss Landing to Carmel's purchase of Sunset.

As a member of the Sunset Commission, which is appointed by the city council, Admiral Fisher said that it has been difficult to get definite plans on different proposals. "Have no fear that the Sunset Commission is going to act hastily," he added.

He said that, if it is illegal to move city offices to Sunset according to terms of the bond issue, he has been advised that it would be possible to do so after approval of another nominal bond issue, of perhaps $1.00 with legal permission for city offices at Sunset.

Chairman Peter Dyer of Sunset Commission said that, although the group is conservative, it "is not a holding operation." He explained that Sunset auditorium is already being upgraded by resurfacing the stage and improving its lighting.

Typical of opinions from the audience:

"Many are horrified at the thought of making Carmel a convention city with a 1,500-seat auditorium..."

"Whatever happens, keep it in character with Carmel..."

"Three purposes would be well served by the present Sunset Center—city government, cultural and community activities..."

"Don't lose Sunset's excellent acoustics..."

Councilman Gunnar Norberg declared that there is "no requirement for Carmel citizens to give away Sunset. Nothing prohibits putting city hall there." He added that public hearings would precede any definite city action.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey said that "the concept of a non-profit organization is a will-o-the-wisp. It's obvious we would have to obtain money somewhere, perhaps from foundations. The economics of maintenance and operation would not be simple."

He explained that the concept of an "auditorium district," which has been suggested as a method of spreading beyond Carmel the cost of a larger auditorium, is not favored by Carmel which would then give up control of Sunset.

Carmel firemen rapped for weekend effigy prank

The result of a five and a half hour emergency Carmel Council meeting called on Saturday came out on Monday. The emergency session was called as a result of a fireman being hung in effigy at the Carmel Firehouse Saturday morning.

Council members directed Firechief J. Robert Baker to look into the matter and take disciplinary action against the principals involved. He was instructed to look into his personnel problems and take action or make recommendations to the council.

Baker told the council men that he will study the matter and by the end of the week make a written or verbal report to the council.

Three of the volunteers who were involved in Saturday's effigy hanging, Charles Grimshaw, Lee McGuckin and the "victim" Paul Artellan, released the following statement on Monday.

"To whom it may concern: In apology to members of the Carmel Fire Department, the fire chief and citizens of Carmel-by-the-Sea, we present this statement of the FACTS regarding Saturday's "effigy hanging." What was presented to the general public via local communications media was a vastly inflated and distorted version of a private gag. Gags of this nature are frequently a part of our life as firemen and perpetrate our interest and maintain our high morale.

In this particular case, the gag was misconstrued: this was mainly due to unfavorable, adverse and unwarranted publicity which has been directed to the fire department and its membership for many months. An official apology to Paul Artellan and the membership of the fire department will be made by chairman Lee McGuckin at the regular monthly meeting of the fire department on Thursday, February 3, 1966.

To the citizens of Carmel we ask their continued support of the fire department in the knowledge that the Carmel Fire Department has and always will be ready to render aid in time of an emergency despite efforts from the outside to portray the department as a band of rebels. Our record speaks for itself. (signed) Paul Artellan, Charles Grimshaw and Lee McGuckin.

Monterey attorney and Carmel Valley resident Mark Starr who was present at Monday's press conference indicated he was there as an interested spectator only, not in relation to the effigy matter, although he is the regular attorney for one of the three firemen involved.

Hudson names

Evans to fill

PlanCom seat

Keith Evans of Carmel was reappointed to the County Planning Commission on Monday by Supervisor Tom Hudson. Only one vacancy was available from this district and there had been considerable conjecture as to whether Evans or Dr. Ed Marcucci would be reappointed to the post.

However, in announcing the appointment, Hudson said he planned to utilize the valuable experience of Marcucci, along with Evans, as an advisory committee. Meeting monthly, the men would act as a liaison between the Board of Supervisors and PlanCom for this district.

The decision was a difficult one to make, according to Hudson, but influenced partially by the fact that Evans was the senior commissioner.

Bauhaus potter on MPC campus

Marguerite Wildenhain, will be on the MPC campus for three days as artist-in-residence, lecturing and demonstrating the art of pottery making. Miss Wildenhain works and makes her home in Guerneville, California.

From February 16 through February 18, she will appear before classes and gatherings of students at the Student Union. On her final evening, Friday, February 18, she will give an illustrated lecture in the Music Hall. Since the hall has a seating capacity of only 240 persons, those who are interested are urged to arrive early for the 8 p.m. lecture to be sure of admission. There is no charge.

Kiwanians praised for work in

Community Chest campaign

Dr. Ed Marcucci announced recently that the 1965 Community Chest campaign went over the top for the first time in nineteen years. Marcucci, chairman of the Carmel Valley business drive gave credit for much of the success of the drive to members of the Valley Kiwanis Club who worked diligently to make the goal.

Men who participated in the campaign were Lou Allaire, Herb Brownell, Dr. A. Dean Campbell, Dr. Robert Cater, Larry Cummings, Byington Ford, Lou Gardner, Tom Hefling, Jim Large, Paul Porter, Chuck Strathmeyer, Elmer Uz-zell, Ken Van Hagen and Rex White.

Animal hospital appeal delayed

The Board of Supervisors delayed action on the appeal of Dr. Gerry Petkus for relaxation of restrictions on his application for a Veterinary Hospital until February 23 at 10:30 a.m.

Petkus appeal concerned the County Road Department's requirements and the restriction against a boarding facility at his proposed animal hospital. The appeal was delayed to facilitate study by the board on a misunderstanding.
